Resource development planning vital

The severe downturn in Alberta's oil industry has given the Resource Evaluation and Planning Division of Alberta Energy and Natural Resources "valuable time to make plans for the future", said Kirk Andries of the Planning Division at last week's open house in Elk Point.

If the boom had continued unchecked, he added, it might have been difficult to conduct the careful studies necessary to protect other resources in northeastern Alberta from the side effects of rapid development.

The Elk Point open house was the third and last in a series held to present a draft of the terms of reference for the Cold Lake - Elk Point Regional Integrated Resource Plan, with the others held at Grand Centre and Bonnyville.

The planning area includes all three towns and is bounded by the Saskatchewan border on the east, the North Saskatchewan River on the south, the southern boundary of the Primrose Air Weapons Range on the north and by the Lakeland Integrated Resource Plan, M.D. 87 and Highway 41 on the west. It covers 3243 square miles. The plan will not address native and Metis land or settlements.

The plan's purpose is to maximize benefits to Albertans from all resources by guiding the management of public land and resources in the Cold Lake Planning Area, recognizing that conflicts between different resource uses can occur.

It will focus explicitly on public land and public resources in the area and includes addressing both subsurface (such as oil sands) and surface (such as wildlife) resources on private lands. A high level of communication and coordination with the various municipalities will be required throughout the process.

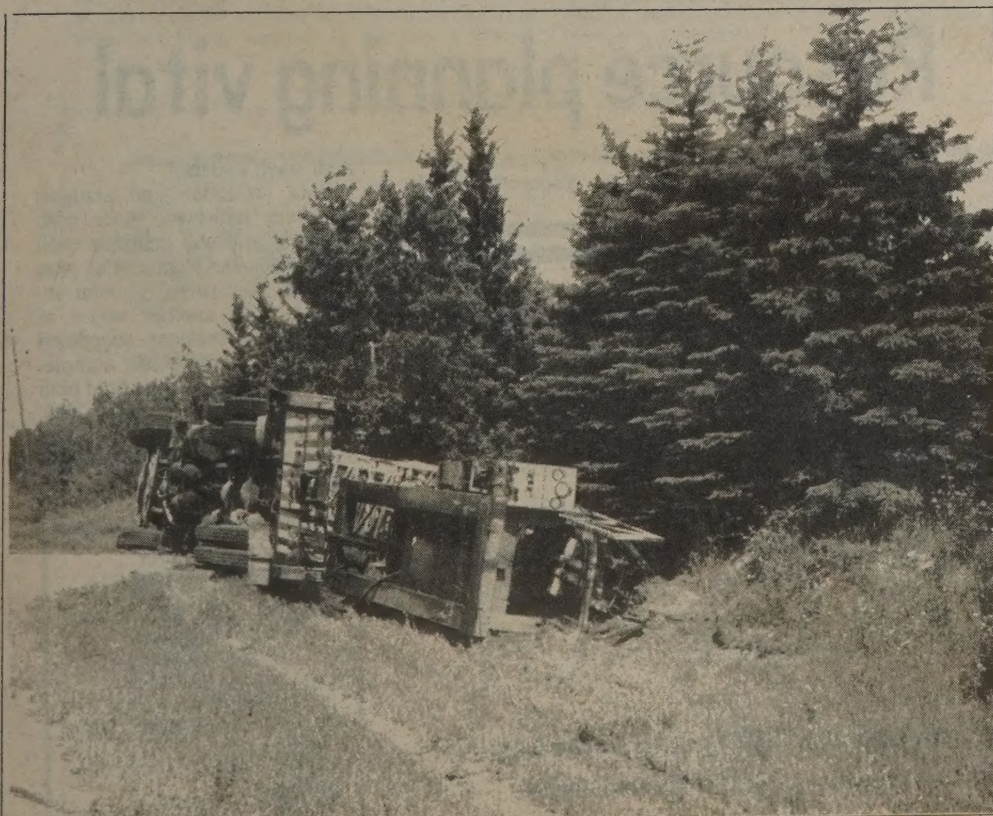

Assessment of cumulative effects of existing and proposed developments, provision of objectives and guidelines for balanced growth, and plans which will "maximize the harmonious co-existent usage of the land surface by all types of surface activities" while minimizing surface distur-

A Message from the Premier of Alberta

I know how vital it is for Albertans to have meaningful employment.

This year, we have put employment and training programs into place to help thousands of Albertans — in all age groups — and all kinds of occupations. But more needs to be done.

Now, for the rest of the summer — and if need be, extending into September — we are creating more opportunities for young people who need jobs.

If you could employ a student in your business or farm — or in a wide range of community or government organizations — there are now new funds available from Alberta Manpower to help you provide those jobs.

I urge you to try to help employ the young and talented Albertans who want to work.

For more information, contact the Hire-A-Student office, or call Alberta Manpower at 427-4740. Outside Edmonton dial "0" and ask your operator for Zenith 22078 (toll-free).

Dewberry News Roundup

By Cliff Cunningham
Dewberry Correspondent

Perry and Tammy Isert have moved back into Dewberry. Philip and Wendy Mousir who lived in their house in Dewberry are moving to Prince George, B.C. Perry and Tammy have a nice new fence built around their lot.

Linda Frey's wedding supper and dance was held in Vermilion. We were not there so I don't know too much about it. Lori Ewen's wedding supper and dance was in the Dewberry Hall July 19, with a very large crowd turning out. We were told it was just for family and relatives so we didn't go. I hope you both have a happy married life.

I have not been on any bus tours this summer so far. Some of the Dewberry and Riverton people have been on a couple of tours to Drumheller and North Battleford. I don't know who and how many went.

Faye and Joe Good called in on Sunday, July 20, and took us for a long drive in the north country. Our first stop was at Lea Park where the Vermilion River joins on to the Saskatchewan River. The Saskatchewan River was so high it was backing up into the Vermilion River for a long way. After lunch at Lea Park campsite we took off for Laurier Lake, Elk Point, Long Lake, and had supper at the campsite by the new bridge south of Elk Point. The water in the river was still getting higher with lots of logs and other things coming down the North Saskatchewan River.

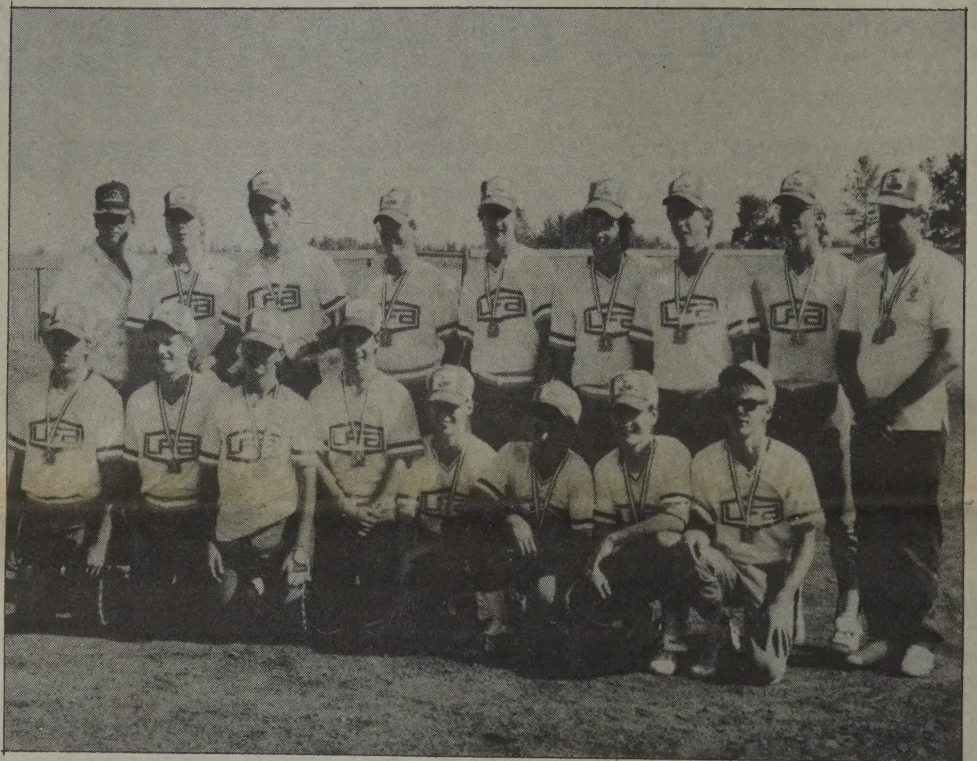

Bill Brock and his son Jack flew to Toronto last week and spent a week with his brother and other relatives visiting Gravenhurst, Elmsdale and other places he had lived in. While there, they had a boat trip on the only steam boat left in Canada. They went up the Muskoka Lake. Joyce Brock and two grandchildren spent the week with Lillian Brock and visited with her mother in the Vermilion Lodge and also with her sisters. She also attended the Dewberry School Reunion.

We are having nice sunny weather now after two weeks of cool cloudy and wet weather. Now the farmers will be able to get out and make hay while the sun shines. Hope to see you all at the Vermilion Fair this weekend.

Happy Birthday to all that have a birthday in July, and many more.

addressed in detail.

Data collection and analysis has been underway since mid-January and will continue until early 1987. Development of plan policies has recently been initiated, with another series of open house sessions scheduled before the January 1987 completion date. Design of the final plan is to start in early October 1986, with yet another series of open houses in late spring 1987 as the project nears an end.

Out our way

Comings and goings

By Mildred Dunham
Ferguson Flats Correspondent

With so many neighboring activities, I have neglected to get much local news.

I hear about different people coming back from Expo and having had a fabulous time. Olga and Vincent Lawrence attended a relative's wedding and visited Expo at the same time. Ray & Ruth Stone are also back from their Expo trip.

My sister Emily and husband Mac McDonald were out with their granddaughter Kerry along with their six Siberian Husky show dogs. They camped at my "cow camp" for nearly a week and took in the dog show at Bonnyville. They proudly took back to Calgary a shopping bag full of blue ribbons won by their dogs.

The wagon train that went thru Lindbergh and Primrose created quite a lot of excitement.

On Sunday, July 27th, Walter Skolarchuk held another sale at his new auction farm; also a first for this area. There was a fair crowd with a good variety of miscellaneous besides trucks and machinery. Walter takes articles on consignment and stores them in his new building.

The next sale will be held on Aug. 23rd and he plans on having a sale at least once a month thereafter. People from this area who have a few items to sell will no longer need to sell privately or haul them to St. Paul or Bonnyville.

It's nice to see Marge Heffernann back and looking better. She'd been undergoing tests at the hospital and reports having no serious problems. Some of her family were out to visit over the weekend.

Clarence Martin from Grand Forks, B.C. was out visiting in the area. Also visiting at the Dunham residence were Lorraine Dunham and son Glen from Breton and Ray and Ruth Byvank from Westlock.

WHAT AM I BID? — Local auctioneers Walter Skolarchuk (in window at right) calls out the bids at the Silver Auction Barn's second successful consignment auction.

Elk Point meets the world

The whole world is going to Expo '86.

Among the sights and sounds from around the globe is a scene which many viewers will no doubt consider to be just another artistic rendering. To those of us visiting from northeast Alberta, it will bring a rush of pride in our little corner of the world, as we recognize the three elevators labeled "Elk Point", in a moving mural, midway through the Alberta Pavilion.

The pavilion itself, when viewed from the north side, appears to have three elevators stuck to the side of a bright blue curling rink, with a stylized oil rig atop golden grain fields fastened to the curling rink's other side. The oil patch, the curling rink, and three elevators are familiar sights to Elk Point eyes and were no doubt the inspiration for architect Gary Andrishak, who was born and raised in our town.

Lineups were short at the time of our visit, with barely time for a glance at the pair of dinosaurs guarding the entrance before we were greeted at the door by a smiling Sherry Chisan from Saddle Lake, who noticed my husband's Elk Point jacket and said it was "good to see folks from near home".

Another familiar sight was in the round theatre, with its 360 degree screen portraying a chuckwagon race. This is not the glitter and glamor of the Calgary Stampede, but the down-home dusty drama of a small-town race meet and the family style atmosphere of the wagon camp.

Moving on past a jumbled cityscape which seems to mix the familiar sights of both Calgary and Edmonton together, we reach what we have come to see. Standing on a glass floor covering a pit of hard red spring wheat, we view a changing mural. At one spot, we see daytime autumn views of, from left to right, rolling fields with combine, grain truck and a farmstead in the distance, a farmer and his dog herding cows down a gravel road with the foothills and mountains in the distance, and — there it is! — a small town, with onion-domed church, kids riding a bicycle and a wagon down a potholed street, and three elevators, the nearest of which is clearly labeled "Elk Point".

As the moving mural turns, it becomes a moonlit winter night in the same three locations and when it turns again, we are "standing in" a bin of grain, with photographs of wheat all around us, as well as the real grain underfoot.

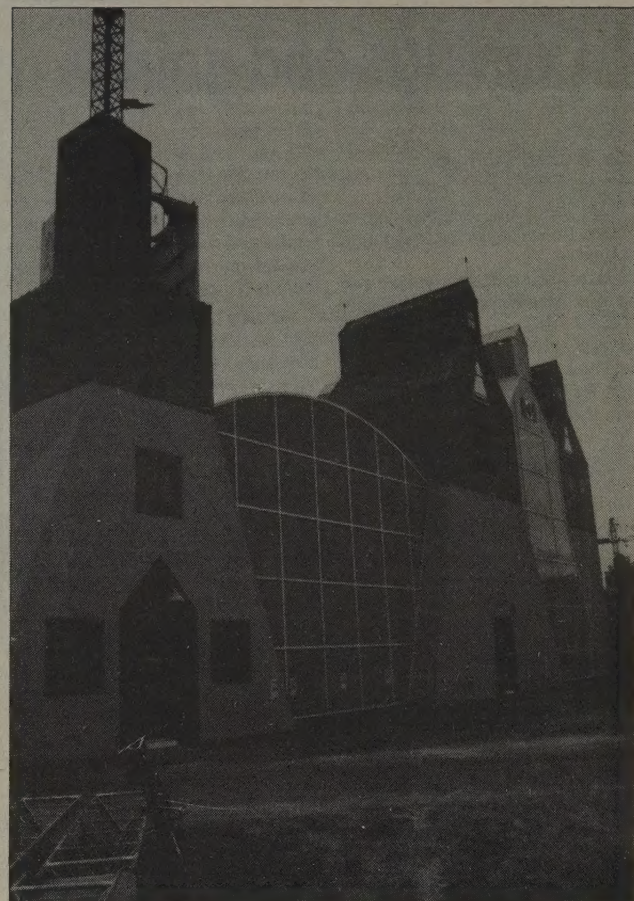

The murals, by Bonnyville artist Peter Shostak, are not necessarily supposed to look like any particular place. However, those elevators look a whole lot like home to us!

The remainder of the pavilion, with a slide show of the Fort McMurray tar sands, and innovative play area for little people only, a circular tower with the names of every city, town, hamlet, whistle stop, and wide-spot-in-the-road (including Owlseye, St. Edouard, and Rusylvia) listed high on the walls and friendly folk from Travel Alberta manning the guestbook, at a counter beneath, and a pictorial presentation on preparations for the 1988 Olympics, was equally interesting and colorful. It was good to see a salute to pioneer newspaperman "Eye Opener" Bob Edwards, who once said that "too many men have spoiled a good story by sticking to the facts".

Good entertainment by Alberta groups was being presented in the open-air part of the pavilion restaurant, which had long lineups both upstairs and down, waiting to taste the good Alberta beef and the buffalo burgers.

The Alberta Pavilion is certainly a "must see" attraction for those Expo-goers who make this province home, and an interesting and intriguing port of call for all those from other parts of the world who will be left wondering, "Where the heck is Elk Point." I wish I could stay there and tell them.

USE YOUR IMAGINATION, NOW — Doesn't this look a little bit like an oil rig on a hilltop, the north end of the curling rink and the Elk Point elevators?

AS THE WORLD SEES ELK POINT — Our elevators, although not all in the color they are today, label our town as a typical Alberta rural community.

On the left side of this mural are rows of homes, a domed church and a potholed street.

Was Grandfather a poet

We came across this verse, while 'hoeing' (housecleaning) at my mother's house, the handwriting faint on lined paper, with corrections, scrawled in indelible pencil. The handwriting was my Grandfather's, so say his two daughters - my mother and Aunt Jennie.

This is no proof that Grandfather penned these lines originally, but the thoughts could well have been his, as he first scanned the prairies when he came West, early in this century. He was a missionary, or traveling preacher, and I feel the words were his own. At any rate, they are so descriptive and beautiful, we thought we should share them with you. Anyone who could create the lovely gardens he did, could well have seen the glory of the virgin prairies.

Irene Magnusson

John Hobden, with his family, came from England in 1900; living in and around Ottawa until about 1912, when he worked on the railway laying tracks westward across the Saskatchewan prairie. Later he was an itinerant missionary, preaching west and north to Primrose, Cold Lake, and points south, homesteading west of Elk Point, where his family joined him in 1912.

MY GRANDFATHER, JOHN HOBDEN — In his garden at Armistice, about 1931. He was about 70 then. He later landscaped the grounds of the (then) new Elk Point Hospital. I. Magnusson

The prairie

These are the gardens of the Desert
These the unshorn fields, boundless and beautiful for which the speech of England has no name.

"The Prairies" I beheld them first and my heart swells
While the elated sight takes in meandering vastness
Lo they stretch in airy undulations far away
as if the ocean in its gentle swell stood fixed motionless.
Motionless? No, they are unchained again
Clouds sweep across the sky and the surface rolls and fluctuates to the eye.
Dark hollows seem to glide along the ridges
Breezes of the South, ye have played among the ruins of Mexico - Have ye fanned a loftier, more lovely scene than this?
Man's hands hath no part in this glorious work
For God alone this firmament hath heaved.

Wagons ho! and whoa!

By Mildred Dunham

Ferguson Flats Correspondent

On July 22, twelve wagons and approximately 2 dozen riders started out from Hazeldine to become the first wagon train in this area since olden times. Some of the drivers had never driven a team of horses; some of the horses had barely seen a harness or saddle; which gave this expedition more of a touch of the old west.

The first day they made about 23 miles, then camped at the Lindbergh town site. On day 2, after some problems with green horses and riders, they still managed to get an early start and to reach the south side of Muriel Lake. Day 3 took them from Muriel Lake, over hills and valleys to Frog Lake Store (uneventful except for horses getting stuck in the creek and a runaway team). They had dinner at the Garnier Lakes. That evening they had a little dance and get-together after they camped at Frog Lake Hall. Day 4 took them from Frog Lake to Lea Park where they camped at the campgrounds there. From Lea Park they rode and drove into the town of Marwayne to take in their 60th anniversary and homecoming on Saturday.

Most of the horses, riders and wagons completed the trip, including Winnie Mathison, oldest rider of the group who will be seventy on her next birthday. There were 2 wagons from Saskatchewan, one from Unity and one from Shellbrooke. There were wagons from Edmonton and Stettler. Ross Morris and outriders represented Lindbergh while Marwayne and Dewberry filled in the rest. Despite being a bit tired, they all report having a "whoopie" good time and everyone is talking about "next year". This is probably just a start in reviving the spirit of the old west, something that will live in some of us forever.

WAGONS HO! — The Marwayne 60th Anniversary Wagon Train nears the end of the trail as they head southward on Highway 897 Saturday morning, after a week's scenic trek through the Lindbergh, Moose Mountain, Spring Park, Primrose and Frog Lake areas.

Marwayne celebrates 60 years

By Mildred Dunham

Ferguson Flats Correspondent

One of our neighboring towns which we hear little about - Marwayne - just 10 miles east of Dewberry celebrated their 60th anniversary and homecoming on July 26th.

They had a very colorful parade on Saturday morning, followed by the arrival of the "wagon train" about noon. They had other events planned for the weekend with lots of visitors to take in "old times".

One oldtimer "Lawrence Perks" has run his little western store in Marwayne for 40 years. He has supplied this area with riding equipment for many years with the best supply of saddles, bridles and western wear. He helped the town grow along with "Hancocks" garage and "Swansons Meat Market".

Marwayne built a new elevator 2 years ago which now has computerized equipment. They developed new camp facilities and are presently enlarging the curling rink. They are also enlarging the town office and equipment buildings. There is a new body shop just outside of town; Davies Lumber Yard just five miles out of town; a new feed store in just last year; a new hairdressing shop; and the highway department installed about six lights at the intersection entering town on Highway 45. The Gulf Service just changed hands and for kids and grownups alike, there is a new pop shop and ice cream parlor where you can buy ten different kinds of ice cream. Myrna & Bob Cintozze are the happy owners. If you eat too much ice cream, a doctor comes into town four times a week.

Marwayne also looks after the Jubilee Regional Park at Lea Park which is now a provincial park. It's a natural place for a campsite where the North Saskatchewan and Vermilion Rivers meet. They hold their annual rodeo there in June and there is a golf course. Many local people as well as tourists use this excellent facility.

AGRICULTURAL LIFESTYLE — Is saluted in this float, one of a number of attractive entries in the Marwayne Anniversary Parade.

Advisory committee new chairman

I am pleased to announce that Bill Payne, M.L.A. for Calgary Fish Creek, has been appointed Chairman of the Advisory Committee on Heavy Oil and Oil Sands Development. Mr. Payne replaces J.E. (Bud) Miller, former M.L.A. for Lloydminster, who did not seek re-election in May.

The Advisory Committee was established in 1983 under the Department of Energy and Natural Resources Amendment Act (now the Department of Energy Act). It functions to monitor the impact that accelerated growth due to heavy oil and oil sands development has on communities in Alberta and also to anticipate growth problems.

Acting as a liaison between the Government of Alberta, industry, and representatives of communities, the Committee advises government on the timing of implementation of government programs providing public services and facilities in areas affected by the development of heavy oil or oil sands resources.

Mr. Payne is highly qualified and enthusiastic, bringing to the position extensive experience in both the private and public sectors. He was Director of Public Affairs for Dome Petroleum from 1976 to 1982 when he was appointed Minister without portfolio responsible for the Public Affairs Bureau.

I am also pleased to announce the appointment of Leslie J. Cooke, department representative on the Advisory Committee and Assistant Deputy Minister of the Resource Evaluation and Planning Division, as Vice-Chairman.

Further information about the activities of the Advisory Committee can be obtained from Mr. Lanny Coulson, the Committee's Executive Director, at 427-7623.

Clandonald News

By Shirley Osinchuk
Clandonald Correspondent

This is Fair season. Over radio and T.V. we have been hearing about the Calgary Stampede and Klondike Days, but the really "big" fairs are still coming up. Mark these dates on your calendar: Clandonald Country Fair, August 8 and 9; Dewberry Fair, August 16; and Elk Point Fair, August 15 and 16.

Two Landonville girls, Caroline Etherington and Anne Brodwin were on the winning Dewberry Linx Midget "C" Ball team again this year. Two years ago this team won the Provincial Playoffs. Last year they took second place, and this year again they won the gold medal for first place.

On July 18 and 19, eight Zone winners met for the Provincial Playoffs at Carstairs. The Dewberry Linx met and defeated Fort Saskatchewan, Lethbridge, Red Deer, and Beiseker. The final game, against Beiseker, was very exciting. Two extra innings had to be played before the Linx won 6 to 5.

Anne Brodwin was named the Most Valuable Player in the semi-final and final games. Congratulations to Coach Frances Bates and Manager Joan Macdonald and all the team for a very successful season.

Monday, July 21, dawned clear and warm, and finally the Landonville picnic could be held. About ninety people, babies to great grandparents, came to enjoy visiting with neighbours over supper of hot dogs, hamburgers and salad. Then the kids (of all ages) competed in sack races, two-legged races, a horseshoe tournament, nail hammering contest, and lastly, a chance to throw a wet sponge at a Dad grinning through a hole in the board.

Special thanks to Westmin Resources for donating the pop for the Landonville picnic.

Congratulations to all the couples who are celebrating twentieth Anniversaries this summer. I enjoyed your wedding dances "way back in '66".
